ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

It is made possible to read an encrypted Web E-mail from a different information terminal device. A server for providing a Web E-mail service to a client has a management function for managing a secret key and a decrypting function in a public key cryptosystem, and the service is realized by decrypting the E-mail encrypted by the public key cryptosystem and transmitting to the information terminal device.